The National Coalition of 100 Black Women – Metropolitan Nashville Chapter is proud to announce the Inaugural Rosetta Miller Perry Civic Engagement Award. This award has been named in Mrs. Perry's honor – for her outstanding leadership efforts in helping create the Metropolitan Nashville's Chapter Annual Sister-for-Sister Conference. The original conference goal of assisting women toward becoming economically independent and politically effective; while building networking opportunities - has now expanded throughout the years to include the Davis-Galloway Awards, the African American Women on Board's Panel Discussion, Danita Marsh Scholarship and this year the Susan Short Jones Emerging Leader's Award; alongside of the Civic Engagement Award. The Sister-for-Sister Conference attracts hundreds of women each year; who are looking to improve their personal and professional well-being. Participants gain insightful and practical tools; for enhanced living from speakers with vast knowledge in education, economic development, politics, health care and other hot-button issues.

The Rosetta Miller Perry Civic Engagement Awards program is designed to recognize and honor Middle Tennessee's African American women; for their commitment and contributions in enhancing the lives of the socially and disadvantaged women in the Middle Tennessee communities. The Rosetta Miller Perry Civic Engagement Award will be given to (one) winner and will be recognized at the 20th Anniversary – Women of Color Luncheon; held during the annual Sister for Sister Conference (March 23-24, 2018/Belmont University).
