The National Coalition of 100 Black Women – Metropolitan Nashville Chapter is proud to announce the Inaugural Susan Short Jones Emerging Leader Award. This award has been named in her honor – for her leadership efforts in helping form the Metropolitan Nashville's Chapter. Her guidance supported the framework for the 1994 strategic initiatives; that help create the chapter's platform on leadership development, economic development, education, health for socially or economically disadvantaged African American women in Middle Tennessee.

The Susan Short Jones Emerging Leader Awards program is designed to recognize and honor Middle Tennessee's African American Young Professionals under the age of 40; for their significant and outstanding accomplishments in their chosen professional fields. This award will showcase their commitment and contributions to the Middle Tennessee communities.

The Susan Short Jones Emerging Leader Awards will be given in four categories 1) Economic Development, 2) Education, 3) Health and Community Outreach. Winners will be recognized at the 20th Anniversary – Women of Color Luncheon; held during the annual Sister for Sister Conference (March 23-24, 2018/Belmont University).

All application submissions (completed application with bio and digital headshot) must be emailed by midnight Friday, March 2, 2018 to: Nashville100bw@gmail.com and application fee must be postmarked by March 2, 2018 to:
